EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Established in 1974 by the Consumer Protection Code (Code), Sections 37-1-101 et seq., the South Carolina Department of Consumer Affairs (SCDCA or Department) is the state consumer protection agency. SCDCA is the administrator and enforcer of the Code, as well as other regulatory statutes outside the Code. In this capacity, the Department helps to formulate and modify consumer laws, policies and regulations; regulates the consumer credit marketplace; resolves complaints arising out of the production, promotion or sale of consumer goods or services in South Carolina, whether or not credit is involved; and promotes a healthy competitive business climate with mutual confidence between buyers and sellers. Overall, the agency protects consumers while giving due regard to those businesses acting in a fair and honest manner.

Major Achievements

Complaint Mediation

- The Department mediated and closed 83% of consumer complaints as "satisfied," which in part is the result of the open-view analysis approach to processing, evaluating and mediating consumer complaints. This approach frequently identifies violations and/or businesses that are not mentioned in the consumer's complaint and assists in determining the probable basis and merit of every filed complaint.
- The agency demonstrated its —global customer base by recovering approximately $1.4 million in refunds, credits and adjustments for consumers nationally and internationally; but most importantly, those living in South Carolina. (Of that figure, $658,567 is from Consumer Services, $733,407 is from Legal.)
- Received more than 5,284 complaints during FY11, 1,653 of which are still pending
- Provided services (walk-ins, referrals, general questions, etc.) to 9,221 persons.

Compliance/Enforcement Activity

• Processed 14,231 licensing applications and 8,530 filings for regulated businesses.

Mission Statement

Our mission is to protect consumers from inequities in the marketplace through advocacy, mediation, enforcement and education.

Values

The Department strives to be a CREDIT to our State by holding the following values as essential in our relationships and decision-making:

C ompetence R espect E quality D edication I ntegrity T imeliness

- Conducted 314 compliance reviews and inspections of regulated businesses and an additional 16 advisory visits to help new businesses get off to a good start.
- Sent 35 advertising compliance letters.
- Conducted 147 special assignments and complaint investigations.
- Launched the online South Carolina Mortgage Log System. This application will allow mortgage brokers and lenders to comply with statutory recordkeeping requirements while permitting SCDCA analysis of loan data to detect predatory or discriminatory mortgage lending practices.
- Formed a partnership with Department of Motor Vehicles Auditors in maximum rate filing compliance/enforcement. This leveraging of resources will continue in FY12 with plans for trainings between the agencies and increased information sharing.

Advocacy Division Activity

- Reviewed 923 insurance notices.
- The Division's insurance savings this year were depressed due to pending challenges to its authority to participate in certain insurance rate filings as well as extremely limited funds for hiring outside actuarial experts to assist in filing reviews. Over the last 6 years, the Division has saved insurance consumers, including small businesses, approximately $258 million.
- Processed 75 applications for Discount Medical Plan Organization, Continuing Care Retirement Community and Professional Employer Organization (PEO) licenses.
- Reviewed over 400 PEO annual reports to ensure compliance with the statutory minimum net worth requirement.
- Reviewed and processed the continuing education compliance reports of over 200 PEO key management personnel.

Cooperative Efforts with the General Assembly, Government Agencies and Businesses

- General Assembly Efforts The Department continued its efforts in advising the Legislature on issues affecting consumers, such as debt collection and insurance rates. The agency also provided testimony on proposed Athlete Agent Act amendments.
- Administrative Programs South Carolina Business One–Stop (SCBOS)

In FY11, 1,143 businesses utilized the SCBOS system to file required documents with the Department, an increase from FY10 when 1,073 businesses used the system. The Department began talks in FY11 with SCBOS to modify the current online system workflow to make it more user-friendly and encourage usage of the streamlined filing process. SCDCA also plans a more intense marketing effort to increase the number of online filings in FY12.

Administration Division Activity

Posted over 1,081 revenue transactions, which included processing multiple checks per transaction, for deposit into the General Fund and agency earmarked accounts.

Outreach, Partnerships and Customer Focus

- Shred Day Events In partnership with SHRED 360, held 4 FREE Shred Days. Locations in Columbia, Charleston and Greenville provided consumers and businesses the opportunity to have their confidential documents shredded. Over 30,000 pounds of paper were shredded during the events.
- Technology Updates Continued development of new online complaint database. Anticipated launch in FY12. Began development of online licensing systems for two of the agency's programs. When implemented, these systems will increase the Department's efficiency and simplify filing processes. Continued work on developing a new, easily-navigable agency website, expected to launch early FY12.
- National Consumer Protection Week- SCDCA partnered with the US Postal Inspection Service, Federal Trade Commission and Better Business Bureau to conduct telephone banks across the state and answered hundreds of consumer fraud questions. The Department also hosted an essay competition for 4th, 5th and 6th grade students. 10 winners were chosen from over 450 entrants.
- Webinars Provided 4 educational webinars to regulated industries and consumers alike. More than 300 people tuned in to hear about topics such as state and federal debt collection laws, recent activity in the area of foreclosures and a consumer law update.
- Social Media Over 63,000 people have viewed SCDCA's 18 videos currently uploaded. The Department also kept over 1600 Twitter followers updated with educational tweets.
- Palmetto Affordable Housing Forum The Department provided several presentations at the forum on topics such as debt collection, mortgage fraud and foreclosure and credit scores. More than 400 persons attended the Forum.
- South Carolina Libraries- SCDCA delivered thousands of brochures to branches across the State. The agency also entered into a partnership with the Friends of the Florence County Library for implementation of their Smart Investing grant.
- Presentations Conducted 33 presentations to consumer groups, trade associations, churches, the legal community and government organizations. Specific audiences included magistrates, Mortgage Broker's Association,

Key Strategic Goals for Present and Future Years

1. Obtain the necessary funding and personnel to effectively administer and enforce the laws assigned to SCDCA.

2. Develop and enhance technology systems to increase SCDCA's efficiency and effectiveness.

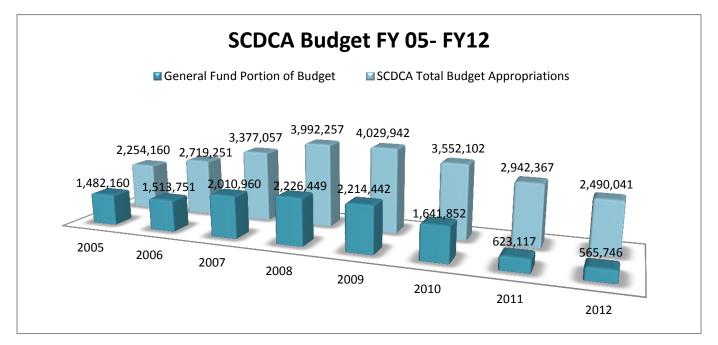

3. Increase public awareness of SCDCA, its services and accomplishments.

4. Enhance internal communications to build knowledge, bolster morale and enable staff to perform at the highest level. senior center members, USC Consumer Law class, Mortician's Association and SC Bar members.

- Mortgage Fraud Hotline In partnership with the SC Attorney General's Office, the Department re-launched the South Carolina Mortgage Fraud Hotline on March 22, 2010. The hotline recorded 179 calls from July through October, when the program ceased operations due to lack of funding (164 calls were recorded from March 22, 2010-June 30, 2010). SCDCA provided guidance and resources to callers.
- US Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC)- Staff conducted 25 Recall Effectiveness Checks throughout the state for recreational vehicles, household furnishings and other consumer products in partnership with the CPSC.
- LifeSmarts: The Ultimate Consumer Challenge- SCDCA annually coordinates the State's LifeSmarts competition, a National Consumers League program. This national program helps high school students develop and demonstrate an understanding of personal finance, health and safety, environment, technology and consumer rights/responsibilities. In FY11, Lower Richland High School from Hopkins was the state winner and represented South Carolina at the national competition held April 29, 2010- May 3, 2011 in Los Angeles.

Key Strategic Challenges

SCDCA has experienced severe budget cuts over the last 3 fiscal years. The budget reductions not only occurred at the General Fund level, with the agency receiving a more than $1.6 million base appropriations cut from FY09-FY11, but other funds have decreased as well. The industries regulated by the Department have been affected by the economic downturn; thus licensee numbers sharply declined. While the Legislature sets the amount of Other Funds the agency can maintain, there is no guarantee such funds will actually be received, leaving SCDCA vulnerable when our mission has taken on even more importance as an unprecedented number of consumers have lost their jobs and/or are financially distressed.

In FY10, SCDCA implemented a reduction in force, resulting in 24 positions being eliminated. In an effort to cut costs, in FY11, the agency downsized office space and moved into a state building, furloughed 14 days, turned in a majority of its leased vehicles, ceased providing certain services and did not fill vacant positions.

While SCDCA staff is dedicated and have taken on additional duties in an attempt to continue carrying out the agency's mission and statutory duties, it is difficult to do so in an effective manner. Staff has furloughed a total of 29 days in 3 fiscal years. Budgetary constraints contribute to the agency's inability to hire needed staff or appropriately compensate those whose job responsibilities have grown and who continue to provide superior service. The agency is turning to technology for assistance and employing internal reviews to shift with the current climate, but maintaining a qualified workforce is of utmost importance.

Accountability Report in Improving Organizational Performance

Preparation of the Accountability Report allows senior leaders the opportunity to take a full view of the accomplishments achieved during the prior year, assess areas needing improvement and set future goals. The report also provides the agency's big picture for all staff so they, too, can ascertain the agency's overall productivity.

BUSINESS OVERVIEW AND ORGANIZATIONAL PROFILE

Description of Major Services

The General Assembly has charged SCDCA with advising the Legislature and Governor on consumer issues and state of credit in this State. The Department is the administrator and enforcer of the law governing consumer credit transactions and also has responsibility over the following industries: Motor Clubs (Act 400 of 1984), Rent-to-own businesses (Act 121 of 1985), Physical Fitness Services (Act 165 of 1985), Pawnbrokers (Act 491 of 1988), Mortgage Loan Brokers (Act 544 of 1988), Telephone Solicitations (Act 656 of 1988), Continuing Care Retirement Communities (Act 97 of 1989), Express Warranties on Motor Vehicles (Act 142 of 1989), Athlete Agents (Act 456 of 1990; Act No. 300 of 2004), Motor Vehicle Subleasing (Act 132 of 1991), Loan Brokers (Act 452 of 1992), Motor Fuel Pricing (Act 161 of 1993), Professional Employer Organizations (Act 169 of 1993), Prize Promotions (Act 483 of 1994), Prepaid Legal Services (Act 328 of 2000), Motor Vehicle Dealer Closing Fees (Act 387 of 2000, Part II, § 82), Discount Medical Plan Organizations (Act 377 of 2006), Consumer Credit Counseling (Act 111 of 2005), Preneed Funeral Contracts, transferred from the Board of Financial Institutions on July 1, 2006, and the regulation of the sale of cosmetic contact lens without a prescription from an authorized dispenser, effective July 1, 2005.

SCDCA also provides consumer law guidance to the financial industry, magistrates, attorneys, and law enforcement agencies, just to name a few, and serves as legal counsel for the Board of Financial Institutions' Consumer Finance Division.

As the state agency designed to represent the insurance interests of consumers, SCDCA reviews insurance rate requests filed with the Department of Insurance, predominantly involving homeowner's insurance and worker's compensation insurance rate filings. When needed, an action is filed and DCA submits evidence in hearings that demonstrate the rate request is not justified and often results in adjudications or settlements that generate savings for consumers and businesses alike.

SCDCA also processes and mediates written consumer complaints, seeking to find equitable solutions for the consumer and the business, including refunds, adjustments and credits to consumer accounts. The agency takes consumer complaints against businesses regulated by the SCDCA, refers complaints that fall within another agency's jurisdiction, and handles those complaints against businesses that are unregulated. Given the thousands of complaints the DCA fields each year (including hundreds which are referred by elected officials, the Better Business Bureau and other agencies) it is clear that the availability of DCA's mediation process takes a large load off the court system. This service also saves consumers and businesses the often prohibitive cost of hiring a private attorney and going through the already congested court system. The Department provides SC taxpayers with a readily available, experienced, and costeffective mediation service. The complaint mediation services offered and provided by SCDCA are unmatched by any state or federal agency as the Department serves as the sole agency

The Consumer Protection Code authorizes the Department to:

- Analyze and mediate individual complaints.
- -Investigate business practices if a pattern of fraud is suspected,
- -Inform about complaints filed against a business,
- -Educate consumers about unfair and deceptive practices, and
- -Provide legal action to represent persons from violating the Code and to prohibit unconscionable conduct.

The Code does not allow the Department to:

- Advise whether or not a business is reputable,
- Recommend a company with which an individual should do business,
- -Handle complaints against a state agency.

engaging in the mediation of individual complaints against unregulated businesses.

SCDCA serves as the main consumer education portal for consumers, business and the media. To ensure a high degree of awareness of consumer rights and responsibilities, staff makes presentations and sponsor webinars on ID Theft, debt collection, foreclosures, credit and other popular topics for SC businesses, government agencies, service providers and consumers, particularly those of modest means and the elderly. The agency also answers hundreds of calls per month pertaining to consumer scams and laws and disseminates press releases and consumer education brochures.

The above services are primarily delivered through one-on-one interaction, distribution of information, use of social media and the practice of law.

Key Customers, Suppliers and Stakeholders

Key Customers

The Department's key customers are the consuming public, ratepayers, regulated and indirectly regulated businesses, law enforcement agencies, schools, community groups, the legal community, operations vendors, the media, consumer protection organizations, other state and federal agencies, national consumer groups, the Council of Advisors on Consumer Credit, the Commission on Consumer Affairs, the Governor's Office, the General Assembly and the US Congress. These groups expect prompt, efficient service and for the agency to utilize a fair and balanced approach in carrying out its legal functions.

Key Suppliers

The Department's key suppliers include the consuming public, the General Assembly, the Board of Financial Institutions, SC Magistrate Court System, Budget and Control Board, US Congress, the Better Business Bureau, Federal Trade Commission, US Consumer Product Safety Commission, and the media.

Key Stakeholders

SCDCA's mission is broad and diverse, affecting all South Carolinians on one level or another. Other states having a version of the Uniform Consumer Credit Code also have an interest in Department activities, specifically in the legal arena.

Operation Location and Number of Employees

Operation Location

The Department of Consumer Affairs is located in Columbia at 2221 Devine Street, Suite 200. However, the Department provides statewide programs and services to the citizens of South Carolina. The agency's statewide toll-free phone number is 1-800-922-1594.

Number of Employees

The Department of Consumer Affairs currently has 35 full-time positions. 29 of these positions are filled, with 10 funded by state appropriations and 25 funded by revenue generated from the licensing fees regulated organizations.

Regulatory Environment and Performance Improvement Systems

Regulatory Environment

SCDCA operates under the South Carolina Constitution, the South Carolina Code of Laws and South Carolina Code of Regulations.

Performance Improvement Systems

Performance measures are discussed monthly in Division and full staff meetings where idea exchanges take place regarding areas needing improvement. Senior management also presents performance benchmarks and updates to the Department's Commission on a monthly basis. The agency also utilizes the annual Employee Performance Management System as a catalyst for addressing performance on an individual level.

Organizational Structure

The Commission on Consumer Affairs

The leadership system at the Department of Consumer Affairs begins with the Commission on Consumer Affairs. The Commission is composed of nine members, one of whom is the Secretary of State. Of the remaining eight members, four are elected by the General Assembly, and four are appointed by the Governor. The Commissioners serve four year terms. The Commission is the policymaking and governing authority for the Department, is responsible for the enforcement of the Consumer Protection Code and appoints the Administrator. It meets on the second Tuesday of each month to discuss the Department's goals and objectives and to hear progress reports from the Administrator and staff. The Commission's current membership is as follows:

ELEMENTS OF MALCOLM BALDRIGE AWARD CRITERIA

Category 1 – Senior Leadership, Governance, and Social Responsibility

1. How do senior leaders set, deploy and ensure two-way communication for:

Short- and long-term organizational direction and organizational priorities?

Division staff meetings, agency-wide staff meetings, and executive-head meetings serve as the primary method for setting, deploying and ensuring two-way communication for short- and long-term priorities. The Administrator also holds one-on-one "15 minute" sessions with staff to discuss perspectives and ideas. Senior leaders also employ an open door policy so staff can feel comfortable discussing any topic at any time with leadership.

Performance expectations?

Employee Performance Management System (EPMS) provides performance expectations and evaluations for each employee. Conducted on an annual basis, these one-on-one reviews show employees the accomplishments of the previous year and outline short- and long-term goals for each staffer. These goals are then monitored through one-on-one reviews and follow-ups throughout the year. Goals are adjusted as necessary to reflect changes in the external and internal variables.

Organizational values?

Short-term organizational values are evaluated based on the agency's stated mission statement and values. These tenets, posted in each employee's office, provide the over-arching philosophy and long-term goals for the agency. Organizational values and priorities on a day-to-day basis are adjusted accordingly.

Ethical behavior?

Ethical behavior and expectations are outlined by Human Resource policies. These policies are created and adapted as needed by management to reflect changing technology, communication, legal, and other behavioral patterns. Senior leaders also lead by example in this area.

2. How do senior leaders establish and promote a focus on customers and other stakeholders?

Whether during an impromptu discussion or within meetings, senior leaders frequently remind employees of their responsibility to assist consumers and other persons seeking guidance from the Department. Activities and communication are centered on the Department's mission to protect consumers in the marketplace while enforcing the laws in a fair and balanced manner.

3. How does the organization address the current and potential impact on the public of its programs, services, facilities and operations, including associated risks?

SCDCA has a strong public interface. Our Services Division has the most consumer interaction in processing complaints while other areas also answer inquiries from the agency's varying customers and suppliers. Staff also makes presentations, distribute consumer educational materials and serve as contact for the media. Feedback is received from all areas allowing the agency to gauge the impact and areas needing attention. With the severe reduction in staff in FY10, the agency continues to take strides in using technology to assist the Department with its efficiency and administration of programs.

4. How do senior leaders maintain fiscal, legal, and regulatory accountability?

On a daily basis, accountability is maintained through supervision, by ensuring staff compliance with internal policies and procedures. Leadership also has monthly meetings with accounting staff to review the agency's financial status and any pending issues. Meetings also are held to discuss legislation, enforcement and any human resources issues. The primary method of fiscal, legal and regulatory accountability, however, is through monthly reports to the Commission on Consumer Affairs. This board, composed of members appointed by the General Assembly and Governor, is the policymaking authority of the Department. Senior leaders provide the current status of each division's activity, budget issues, and legislative updates.

5. What performance measures do senior leaders regularly review to inform them on needed actions?

Complaint closing ratings and processing times are trusted performance measures, as well as customer satisfaction. Consumer refund levels from all divisions, application processing times, administrative action taken and monthly progress report data also are analyzed.

6. How do senior leaders use organizational performance review findings and employee feedback to improve their own leadership effectiveness, the effectiveness of management throughout the organization including the head of the organization, and the governance board/policy making body? How do their personal actions reflect a commitment to organizational values?

Senior leaders regularly receive feedback from employees by practicing an open door policy. This feedback is discussed during division and full staff meetings. Furthermore, following employee performance reviews, each employee is given 15 minutes with the agency administrator to discuss organizational findings, observations, and issues, and to provide solutions, suggestions, and improvements. Through these methods, senior leaders regularly receive informal and formal agency appraisals. Leadership development and implementation of strategies meant to address concerns raised in staff feedback and performance reviews shows a commitment to the agency and its core values of competence, respect, equality, integrity, and timeliness.

7. How do senior leaders promote and personally participate in succession planning and the development of future organization leaders?

Through the formal evaluation process and informal communication, leadership becomes aware of staffs' goals for their future in the agency. Opportunities then are created to permit the employee to try job duties that correlate with their goals and allow the supervisor to evaluate the performance. Employees also attend training workshops and leadership seminars when the budget permits. Several staff members began at lower levels in the agency and have moved upward through the agency, including two of the Deputies who started as law clerks.

8. How do senior leaders create an environment for performance improvement and the accomplishment of strategic objectives?

Employees are given supervised freedom in which they are allowed to practice and incorporate new skills sets and test drive new ideas. While monitored, this flexibility encourages employees to take initiative and seek innovative ways to improve and reach set goals. Furthermore, regular staff meetings remind employees of benchmarks and long-term goals, keeping strategic objectives in the forefront of employees' minds. Open door policies lend themselves to informal, open communication.

9. How do senior leaders create an environment for organizational and workforce learning?

Team learning is emphasized through staff committees and brainstorming sessions. Employees are also encouraged to attend SCDCA-sponsored webinars on consumer protection laws as well as courses or meetings offered in the public sector or sponsored by various government agencies. The agency also belongs to associations of fellow state regulators and leadership encourages the formation of relationships with our counterparts to enhance learning. Information sharing among individuals and divisions keeps everyone learning and well-informed.

Staff presented SCDCA HR Director with a "Resolution" of appreciation.

10. How do senior leaders communicate with, engage, empower, and motivate the entire workforce throughout the organization? How do senior leaders take an active role in reward and recognition processes to reinforce high performance throughout the organization?

Senior leaders operate under the philosophy that anything they ask staffers to accomplish, they should be willing to accomplish themselves. Senior leaders do not segregate duties based on position levels. Excellence is publicly praised during division meetings, staff meetings, and via e-mail. Commendation letters are included in the agency's monthly Progress Report to the Commission. The agency also hosts an annual "Employee Appreciation Day" to thank and motivate staff.

11. How do senior leaders actively support and strengthen the communities in which your organization operates? Include how senior leaders determine areas of emphasis for organizational involvement and support, and how senior leaders, the workforce, and the organization contribute to improving these communities.

Central to SCDCA's mission is education. Senior staff often participates in forums and presentations for the legal community, caregivers, service providers and consumers. Education materials and the agency website also provide a wealth of information to help consumers. Legislative recommendations and investigative support are utilized to address pertinent needs and address problem areas.

Leadership also encourages staff to support the community by engaging in charitable activities. Staff participate annually in the United Way campaign and historically had one of the highest levels of participation for a small agency. Items for Harvest Hope Food Bank and the SC Bar's Cinderella Project were also donated by staff in FY11.

Category 2 – Strategic Planning

1. What is your Strategic Planning process, including key participants, and how does it address: a) Your organizations' strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats; b) Financial, regulatory, societal and other potential risks; c) Shifts in technology and customer preferences; d) Workforce capabilities and needs; e) Organizational continuity in emergencies; f) Your ability to execute the strategic plan.

The Department has a trusted team of senior leaders that evaluate the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats surrounding the Department on a regular basis. Division meetings, senior leader meetings and monthly staff meetings help establish the proper framework of communication for the assessment of current performance and goals and the development of action plans. Furthermore, SCDCA not only considers internal adjustments and factors within the control of the agency, but senior leaders regularly assess the economy and relevant consumer industries. While these external factors may be out of the control or purview of the Department's authority, senior leaders foresee trends and adapt internal practices and consumer services as necessary to meet expected trends and changes. Through open communication, foresight, adaptability, and preparedness, the Department is able to stay ahead of the curve in trends, whether it be technology (the Department maintains a vigorous social media campaign, and is in the process of updating its website, complaint system and other internal computer systems), legislation (the Department supported the much needed mortgage lending legislation in light of the housing crisis) and budget cuts (the Department participated in a reduction in force in FY10).

2. How do your strategic objectives address the strategic challenges you identified in your Executive Summary? See Strategic Planning Chart below.

Strategic Planning

Program	Supported Agency	Related FY 08-09	Key Cross
Number	Strategic Planning	Key Agency	References for and Title	Goal/Objective	Action Plan/Initiative's)	Performance Measures*
Agency- wide	I. Obtain the necessary funding and personnel to effectively administer and enforce the laws assigned to the Department.	Assess current staffing levels and identify areas needing additional support. Request funding for those positions as well as for current staff salary adjustments in an effort to retain mission critical employees, provide compensation to those taking on additional job duties and enhance morale. SCDCA will also seek funding for training opportunities. A highly skilled and well-trained workforce is essential for the Department to accomplish its mission of protecting and educating consumers. Agency- wide	II. Develop and enhance technology systems to increase the Department's efficiency and effectiveness.	SCDCA currently has four filing programs in production online and has been making strides in the development of a new online complaint system. Online licensing programs for two other SCDCA programs are also in development. SCDCA also purchased upgrades for software utilized by staff on a daily basis. The agency will continue the effort of making filing available online and will assess what other technological advances would serve to increase the agency's efficiency and effectiveness. Agency- wide	III. Increase public awareness of SCDCA, its services, and accomplishments.	SCDCA will continue to look for innovative methods in getting its message to the public, including the use of social media and traditional outlets such as press releases and making presentations. New partnership opportunities will be explored. SCDCA will also begin issuing reports to the public on areas it regulates such as identity theft, credit counseling and mortgage brokering. An assessment on ways to increase outreach, including an internal review of each division's process when answering inquiries will be done. Agency- wide	IV. Enhance internal communications to build knowledge, bolster morale and enable staff to perform at the highest level.	Continue the "15 minute" conversations with Administrator, Job Satisfaction Survey, and agency wide staff meetings. SCDCA will revive a weekly newsletter to employees to inform them of agency and staff happenings. More internal trainings on agency policies will be held. Cross training will also become a priority. Employees will continue to be encouraged to participate and provide input in the creation of new methods for providing and serving customers and meeting agency goals. 3. How do you develop and track action plans that address your key strategic objectives, and how do you allocate resources to ensure the accomplishment of your action plans?

Budgetary and financial progress is monitored on a monthly basis, if not more frequently. Adjustments are made as necessary to keep in line with strategic short- and long-term goals. Additional evaluations of programs, individuals, and Department goals are made on a periodic basis during the execution of the strategic goals. Post-mortem meetings are handled at the conclusion of each program, initiative, or fiscal mile marker to analyze success and need improvements. Resources are budgeted for each portion of the action plan in advance and shifted as needed throughout the execution phase.

4. How do you communicate and deploy your strategic objectives, action plans and performance measures?

The Administrator engages in communication on all levels through full staff meetings to keep staff informed about new strategic directives as well as to provide feedback on various issues affecting agency programs and operations. A monthly progress report is presented to the Commission on Consumer Affairs. The Accountability Report is presented to the Commission as well as the Office of State Budget each year. Communication methods mentioned in the answer to 1(a) in Category 1 are also used to communicate strategies and results.

5. How do you measure progress on your action plans?

This is measured by the number of complaints we receive, the amount of outreach and Speaker's Bureau requests we receive and fulfill, tracking of our publicity and the amount of financial recoveries made for South Carolina consumers who were wronged in the marketplace. The monthly progress report captures additional measures for each Division. Customer feedback and performance evaluation are also reviewed. Regarding technology goals, the timeline and overall progress of implementing new, online programs are evaluated.

6. How do you evaluate and improve your strategic planning process?

Senior management analyzes the trends and growth of regulated industries and issues affecting consumers and realigns priorities based on these needs and the Department's capabilities. Priorities for improvement are communicated to staff. Agency staff meetings are used frequently to communicate key priorities to staff. Senior leaders are generally notified of key issues and priorities in group and individual discussions and meetings with the Administrator.

7. Provide the website link for your Strategic Plan. www.scconsumer.gov

Category 3 – Customer Focus

Identify key customers and stakeholders.

The Department has a number of customers and stakeholders not the least of which is South Carolina consumers. Other internal and external publics include ratepayers, regulated and indirectly regulated businesses, law enforcement agencies, schools, community groups, the legal community, vendors, the media, consumer protection organizations, the Commission on Consumer Affairs, the Council of Advisors on Consumer Credit, the Governor's Office, the General Assembly and the US Congress.

1. How do you determine who your customers are and what are their key requirements?

A majority of the Department's customers and their key requirements are identified in the Code of Laws and accompanying regulations. Customers falling outside this purview are determined based on history and the establishment of partnerships with organizations or agencies providing services to a similar customer base as the Department or administering or enforcing consumer protection laws at the federal or state levels.

2. How do you keep your listening and learning methods current with changing customer/business needs?

All divisions take a pro-active approach in adapting to an ever-changing economy and technology. For example, our Department was one of the first state agencies to launch a social media campaign with YouTube postings on important events, scams, and consumer news, a Facebook page, and a Twitter account. Furthermore, the Department leverages resources and collaborates with other organizations to identify changing customer/business needs. Customer and employee feedback are also considered when received to evaluate current methods and areas needing improvement.

3. What are your key customer access mechanisms, and how do these mechanisms enable customers to seek information, conduct business, and make complaints?

The Department receives a majority of its consumer or business communications via telephone, mail and e-mail. Unlike some agencies, the Department does not have an automated answering system when a customer calls; they get a live voice every time. Information is also readily available on our website, which contains business filing applications, complaint forms, consumer and business educational materials and other helpful information.

4. How do you measure customer/stakeholder satisfaction and use this information to improve?

A hard measure of customer satisfaction utilized by the Department for years is the closing status of complaints. After analysis, each complaint is given a closing status based on the factors below:

Satisfied	The business resolved the complaint to the consumer's satisfaction or provided an explanation that the Department deemed acceptable.
Unsatisfied	The business would not reply or would not make a good faith effort to resolve the complaint.
Undetermined	The facts were disputed, and the Department could not make a determination of responsibility.
Abandoned	The Department was unable to contact the consumer concerning clarification and/or additional information needed to complete the initial processing procedure.
Insufficient Merit	The Department determined that there was insufficient validity to the complaint. (This designation is seldom used.)

Regarding licensees, the Department utilizes various means in an attempt to ascertain their satisfaction. One of the most successful methods is the establishment of Roundtables for Department-regulated industries. Each Roundtable is composed of members of the regulated industry as well as pertinent Department staff members. Overall, the Department has open lines of communication with the industries it regulates as the Roundtables and Department participation create a relationship ripe for the exchange of ideas.

The Department utilizes information gathered during meetings and comments received from licensees and consumers through other methods of communication in the review of current policies, procedures, statutes, etc.

5. How do you use information and feedback from customers/stakeholders to keep services and programs relevant and provide for continuous improvement?

Because customers provide feedback to individual staff members, the Department empowers staff to resolve complaints in the most relevant, targeted method for each customer without having to notify management. Management attempts to pinpoint where the specific process broke down and fix the problem or implement a new procedure, if necessary. Action taken by management is communicated through supervisors to the affected staff. Complaint information is maintained in a database to bolster programs and services so that problem areas for the public can be identified, the public can be warned of alarming trends or deceptive business practices, and cases can be built for legal or legislative action. As an example of how SCDCA uses consumer feedback, the agency launched a new consumer publication, the SCDCA Spotlight, to highlight a specific scam or issue the agency is receiving a lot of inquiries about.

6. How do you build positive relationships with customers and stakeholders? Indicate any key distinctions between different customer groups.

The Department's internal-open door policy is extended to all customers and stakeholders. Dialogue with businesses that the Department regulates, businesses involved in consumer complaints, consumer groups and communities from all backgrounds, and each resident of South Carolina. The Department builds coalitions and partnerships different community groups and consumer-related groups to help amplify the protection of consumers. The Enforcement Division provides advisory reviews to regulated businesses to bring them into compliance before violations occur and penalties are assessed. The Department also provides continuing education to licensees at no charge is a frequent presenter at trade associations of regulated entities. The most important factor in building positive relationships, no matter who the customer is, has been being responsive and proactive while providing timely information or results.

Category 4 - Measurement, Analysis, and Knowledge Management

1. How do you decide which operations, processes and systems to measure for tracking financial and operational performance, including progress relative to strategic objectives and action plans?

The Department is guided primarily by the South Carolina Consumer Protection Code, which provides requirements for advocacy, complaint mediation, credit and regulatory enforcement, and education. All activities are viewed in terms of effectiveness and cost efficiency per the discernment of the Administrator and senior leaders.

2. How do you select, collect, align, and integrate data/information for analysis to provide effective support for decision making and innovation throughout the organization?

The Department continues to seek cost- and time- efficient methods for data integration and is continuing to move towards electronic forms of collection and analysis. Information, however, is backed up through hard copies in paper form. There are standard electronic reports and ad hoc reports that can be and are created from the system. Bringing the electronic and the paper information together is a manual process. Decisions are made from this final compilation. Progress reports, which contain integral data on Department operations, are reviewed often to determine areas for improvement. Web-based tools are also utilized to ascertain the effectiveness of outreach efforts.

3. What are your key measures?

- Refunds, adjustments and credits achieved through complaint mediation.
- Closing status for mediation of complaints.
- Savings for consumers through intervention in insurance cases.
- Top categories for consumer complaints received.
- Number complaints received annually.
- Number of licensing and registration filings processed annually.
- Cost to process a consumer complaint.
- Cost to review a license application.

• Number of onsite audits of regulated businesses.

4. How do you select and use comparative data and information?

The Department compares trends nationwide, on the eastern coast, and more narrowly throughout southeastern states, depending on the issue, to determine trends and likely patterns. Decisions are based on what has happened historically. The agency looks to information from other Uniform Consumer Credit Code states and states having similar laws to those the Department administers and enforces. Data from the Consumer Services Division is analyzed monthly and compared to prior months and years for trends. Consumer needs are identified and made public through the media, public speaking engagements, legislators, etc. Additional research is conducted by law clerks, using available online databases, census data, court decisions, and other resources.

5. How do you ensure data integrity, timeliness, accuracy, security, and availability for decision-making?

Set standards and performance expectations provide a measuring stick for decision-making and data-processing. These pre-determined guidelines have been established for complaint analysts to determine the closing status of each complaint. These guidelines are followed, and the Director of Consumer Services and the Deputy for Enforcement assist in the determination when requested. Senior leaders not only do spot-checking of problem complaints, but also review the work product of employees and offer 360° feedback.

Trends, particularly top complaint categories, influence the Department's priorities, focus and decisions. Utility and insurance filings are reviewed to determine if the Advocacy Division should intervene at the Public Service Commission or the Department of Insurance.

6. How do you translate organizational performance review findings into priorities for continuous improvement?

We use our agency-wide audit, monthly progress reports, and informal anecdotal evidence. When consumers and other stakeholders and customers call and ask why we do things a certain way – we are open to discussion and change.

7. How do you collect, transfer, and maintain organizational knowledge? How do you identify and share best practices?

Organizational knowledge is collected and maintained through agency-wide staff meetings. These meetings are documented, and any best practices are communicated to all employees. Every news release or major public communiqué is sent to staff first. Weekly meetings are held to provide computer training and information sharing. Cross-divisional meetings are also held to vet ideas and openly discuss pending issues or topics. Post-mortem meetings are also held after major events to evaluate and discuss strengths and weaknesses. The Department also reaches out to other organizations having a consumer focus and participates in task force's coalitions and holds collaborative meetings.

Category 5 - Workforce Focus

1. How does management organize and measure work to enable your workforce to: 1) develop to their full potential, aligned with the organization's objectives, strategies, and action plans; and 2) promote cooperation, initiative, empowerment, teamwork, innovation, and your organizational culture?

By monitoring trends, growth, and practices of regulated businesses, senior management is able to realign priorities as necessary based on industry need and Department capability. Communication methods mentioned in Category 1(a) above (leadership communication) are also used to communicate priorities for improvement. Agency-wide staff meetings are used frequently to communicate key priorities to staff. Senior leaders are generally notified of key issues and priorities in group and individual discussions and meetings with the Administrator. As indicated throughout this report, the Department has processes in place for evaluating these areas and for promoting cooperation, innovation and teamwork, but a more formalized strategic planning process is the lynchpin. The communication methods employed, the goals and objectives set annually, and the forward-thinking and innovation of senior leadership create a culture of progress improvement and teamwork that readily elicits staff cooperation, optimism and buy-in.

2. How do you achieve effective communication and knowledge/skill/best practice sharing across departments, jobs, and locations? Give examples.

Not only does the Department regularly reinforce two-way communication, but also communication across division and job lines. During division meetings, employees from Public Information and other divisions are encouraged to attend, so that important information can be communicated agency-wide and made available. Employees provide regular feedback to supervisors within their division and across division lines as observations are made. Creating internal "task forces" within the agency to tackle a new issues, policy update, etc. with members from the various divisions also enhances communication and knowledge sharing.

3. How does management recruit, hire, place, and retain new employees? Describe any barriers that you may encounter.

The Department recruits and hires new employees in the traditional manner as espoused by the Office of Human Resource in the State's Budget and Control Board. Employees are placed in the division most suiting their skill set, but further professional and personal development is encouraged and rewarded. Promotional opportunities that become available are most often made internally. Staff members who acquire new skills often have their position descriptions rewritten to accommodate a greater degree of performance and responsibility. As discussed in the "Key Strategic Challenges" section, however, Department lack funding to fully compensate professional employees, allow for outside training opportunities, reward extraordinary efforts of others, and fill more FTEs in critical divisions.

4. How do you assess your workforce capability and capacity needs, including skills, competencies, and staffing levels?

As stated in question 1 (above), senior management analyzes the trends and growth of regulated industries and customer volume and realigns priorities based on needs/gaps and the Department's capabilities.

5. How does your workforce performance management system, including feedback to and from individual members of the workforce, support high performance work and contribute to the achievement of your action plans?

The Department embraces the EPMS system and requires all supervisors to use this method. Some divisions even employ the 360° feedback system. And, as stated above, staff members who acquire new skills often have their position descriptions rewritten to accommodate a greater degree of performance and responsibility.

6. How does your development and learning system for leaders address the following: a) development of personal leadership attributes? b) development of organizational knowledge? c) ethical practices? d) your core competencies, strategic challenges, and accomplishment of action plans?

SCDCA investigators received their Limited Duty Class 3 Certifications.

The Department attempts to hire self- motivated employees. Specific objectives are at times placed in employees' planning documents. Training opportunities are made available for those employees whose talents or needs justify the training. DCA also encourages employees to participate in organizations of which the agency is a member and professional associations. The agency also pays for continuing education courses for its attorneys, which includes ethics credits. Employees are encouraged to offer recommendations to improve operations. Other incentives currently under consideration include leave time or bonuses for employees who contribute valuable cost saving ideas.

7. How do you identify and address key developmental training needs for your workforce, including job skills training, performance excellence training, diversity training, management/leadership development, new employee orientation, and safety training?

As division directors identify customer needs, they address the division's capabilities to meet those needs and address necessary skill training with supervisors and individual employees as needed. As an agency member of the State's Government Improvement Network, the Department is able to take advantage of many inexpensive, but highly effective performance excellence training workshops and leadership development opportunities. Diversity training, new employee orientation and safety training are all components of the Department's Human Resource Management staff and are ongoing.

8. How do you encourage on the job use of new knowledge and skills?

As stated above, staff members who acquire new skills often have their position descriptions rewritten to accommodate a greater degree of performance and responsibility. Other incentives currently under consideration include leave time or bonuses for employees who contribute valuable cost-saving ideas as well as promotional consideration as opportunities become available.

9. How does employee training contribute to the achievement of your action plans?

Success is achieved through teamwork. A successful team must be motivated, well-trained, and positive. These principles are not only believed, but exemplified at the Department. Action plans are evaluated and adjusted as necessary to fit the current consumer climate. Our staff is able to adjust and work smarter as a result of the cross-training and teambuilding work the Department has espoused over the years.

10. How do you evaluate the effectiveness of your workforce and leader training and development systems?

Each employee is asked to assess his/her training needs. Supervisors meet with their division directors, and training is requested as needed. EPMS employee evaluations also assist in identifying strong and weak points in the Department's training systems. SCDCA also employed a "Job Satisfaction Survey" in FY11 to ascertain staff perspectives in this area and others.

11. How do you motivate your workforce to develop and utilize their full potential?

Forward-thinking and progressive implementation of action plans requires forward-thinking and progressive-minded employees. Consequently, SCDCA makes employee development an ongoing, high-priority, conscious and concerted effort. Despite significant budget limitations, SCDCA allocated funds for employee development to assist in learning higher-level skills and new ways of viewing the world. Additionally, many opportunities for two-way communication are provided to promote information sharing, motivate people and boost productivity. The methods include: input on program changes; divisional meetings; internal communication products and venues, one-on-one communication with management, group reads and staff retreats. All of these are vital methods for training staff and gaining their buy-in towards breaking down barriers to communication. Employees are asked to help develop position descriptions, and duties/success criteria are signed off on. The Consumer Services and Enforcement Divisions have used a weighted system that motivates the employee to focus on priorities. Promotions, merit increases and bonuses are based on ratings.

12. What formal and/or informal assessment methods and measures do you use to determine employee wellbeing, satisfaction, and motivation?

The Department relies on its communication practices and open-door policies as an informal, though key measure of assessment. Well-being is assessed through daily contact and by engaging staff in many opportunities for communication. The Administrator has an open-door policy and annually implements the Administrator's "15-minutes" with ALL staff, which allows them one-on-one conversation. The discussion focuses on ways to improve/enhance the overall program at the Department. The Department's turnover rate has traditionally been low, and retention has been high. The Director of Consumer Services examines each complaint analyst's number of pending, closed and newly-assigned complaints to get a sense for time management and staff motivation. Staff meetings are held, and the monthly progress report summarizes each Division's activities. An exit interview is held when employment is terminated to discover reasons for dissatisfaction, if any.

13. How do you manage effective career progression and effective succession planning for your entire workforce throughout the organization?

As able, the Department provides career progression opportunities for staff and skill training, depending on budgetary constraints. Within the ideal structure there are two defined types of career progression. The first type is progression within a title. Most state employee titles are designed to reflect greater levels of proficiency within the title, e.g., specialist, coordinator, director. The second type of career progression is progression across titles which encompass movement through a series of titles reflecting greater levels of supervisory, budgetary, and decision-making control and impact. The Department is always looking for people who are motivated, eager to help consumers, and who can develop rapidly as professionals and assume constantly increasing levels of responsibility. Strong performers are promoted and compensated as the budget allows.

14. How do you maintain a safe, secure, and healthy work environment?

Safety and accessibility were important factors in selecting the Department's current location and subsequent floor plan. The Department sponsors a wellness program, and experts have been brought in to present tips on stress reduction, injury prevention, exercise, diet and nutrition. The Department also has a blood pressure cuff in the office to allow employees opportunities to monitor physical health and well-being. The Department has a Coordinator for the State's Prevention Partner's Program who keeps staff informed of all Prevention Partner opportunities and educational materials. Employees have participated in stroke screening, stress management, aerobic exercise classes, wellness walks, blood pressure screening and the National Wear Red Day, which included the purchase of Red Dress pins to bring awareness to heart disease as the number one killer of women. These programs have made our workforce stronger and healthier, therefore reducing the amount of absenteeism and sick leave while promoting a healthy lifestyle. Employees are immediately notified of danger in the workplace via signs, email and the intercom system. Additionally, locks requiring security codes are installed at all entry points. These security codes are periodically changed on all doors to ensure the utmost safety for employees.

Category 6 – Process Management

1. How do you determine, and what are your organization's core competencies, and how do they relate to your mission, competitive environment, and action plans?

Core competencies emerge through an organizational process of accumulating and learning how to deploy different resources and capabilities and are demonstrated through new practices, achievements, and results. At the Department, we look no further than the Values we include in our mission statement: Competence, Respect, Equality, Dedication, Integrity, and Timeliness. Through its mission: To protect consumers from inequities in the marketplace through advocacy, mediation, enforcement, and education, the Department strives to be a CREDIT to South Carolina.

Our core competencies are determined through our mission statement and the expectations of customers and stakeholders. They include our consumer complaint mediation program, our credit expertise, the taxpayer insurance advocacy intervention program, and our licensing and regulatory competencies. These core competencies coupled with an assertive Public Information and Educational Outreach effort have allowed the organization to be recognized by taxpayers/ratepayers, stakeholders, the media, and peer organizations as an industry leader in government and consumer protection agencies.

2. How do you determine and what are your key work processes that produce, create, or add value for your customers and your organization and how do they relate to your core competencies? How do you ensure these processes are used?

Senior leadership has a mandate to continuously improve the organization's capacity to handle its internal and external functioning and relationships. This would include such things as improved interpersonal and group processes, more effective communication, enhanced ability to cope with organizational problems of all kinds, more effective decision processes, more appropriate leadership style, improved skill in dealing with destructive conflict, and higher levels of trust and cooperation among organizational members. These objectives stem from a value system based on an optimistic view of community and network - that individuals in a supportive environment are capable of achieving higher levels of development and accomplishment

3. How do you incorporate organizational knowledge, new technology, cost controls, and other efficiency and effectiveness factors, such as cycle time, into process design and delivery?

The Department employs the Plan, Do, Check, Act process deployment. The agency has also put a focus on the utilization of new technology to increase efficiency and overall effectiveness, with a focus on our Complaint System database and licensing programs. SCDCA currently has 4 of its filing programs online through SCBOS. The Public Information Division has also heavily relied on social media in an effort to keep the public informed in a cost effective manner. With the economic downturn, staff is always looking for innovative methods to achieve a task in a more efficient and cost effective way.

4. How does your day-to-day operation of these processes ensure meeting key performance requirements?

Regular feedback internally and externally including from our stakeholders and customers, as well as policy-making boards and commissions, and from senior leadership to front line employees ensures that our key performance requirements are met.

5. How do you systematically evaluate and improve your key product and service related work processes?

The Department's key product - consumer awareness, education, and protection – is continuously improved by adding methods to reach consumers and regulated businesses, such as embracing new methods of communication and making licensing and registration more convenient and accessible for regulated business. Work processes are evaluated at least annually and improvements are made as permitted.

6. What are your key support processes and how do you improve and update these processes to achieve better performance?

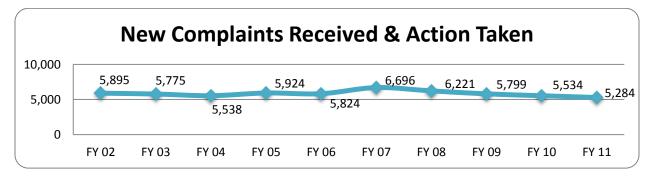

Key support processes include accounting, human resources, procurement, mail distribution and computer services. Staff within these areas is constantly reviewing policies, researching the newest technologies and responding to agency demands. Leadership monitors these areas to assess any need to revise current processes or takes corrective action.

7. How does your organization determine the resources needed to meet current and projected budget and financial obligations?

Employees are encouraged to use available resources to perform duties, but are encouraged to think of new resources that would result in long-term savings, cost efficiencies, and enhanced performance. Resource purchases and acquisitions are submitted through supervisors, directors, and receive approval from the Administrator and purchasing supervisor to ensure projected budget expenditures are not exceeded. The Department strives to maintain the same level of consumer refunds and business savings, despite budget constraints and limited resources.

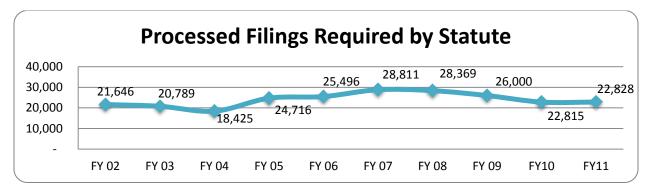

Category 7 – Business Results

7.1 What are your performance levels and trends for your key measure of mission accomplishment/product and service performance that are important to your customers?

Chart 7.1-1

FY02 includes 7,939 filings for prepaid legal services registrations and FY03 includes 7,450 filings for prepaid legal services. Due to a saturation of the industry market in South Carolina, FY04 registrations for prepaid legal representatives declined to 4,380. FY05 includes the first time licensing of 3,125 mortgage loan originators. FY06 includes the licensing of 3,791 mortgage loan originators. FY07 includes 7,533 Preneed Funeral Contracts received for regulatory review and filing. FY08 includes 7,263 Preneed Funeral Contracts. There were 3,093 mortgage loan originators licensed in FY08. FY09 saw the decline of licenses for mortgage brokers and loan originators due to the mortgage/housing crisis nationwide.

Chart 7.1-3

Chart 7.1-4

The decrease number of agency involvement in new insurance rate cases is due to pending, legal challenges to the Department's authority to intervene in certain insurance rate filings.

Chart 7.1-5

The Department closed a record-high 6,142 complaints during FY09, despite a 15-day voluntary staff furlough taken by each employee during that time. Following a significant reduction in force in FY11, the Department closed 5,361 complaints.

7.2 What are the performance levels and trends for the key measures on customer satisfaction and dissatisfaction?

Chart 7.2-1

The Department required a large automobile dealer operating in South Carolina to refund $1.3 million in excess finance charges to consumers in FY05 and continued in FY06 for failure to file a Maximum Rate Schedule. Refunds and adjustments to consumers totaled $658,567 in FY11.

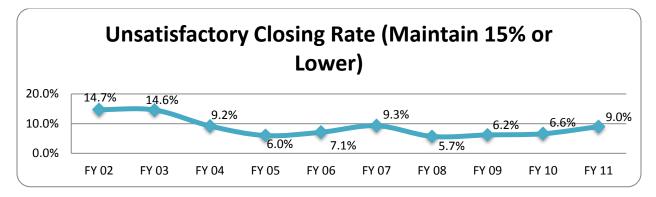

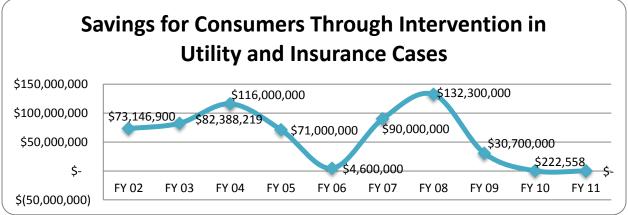

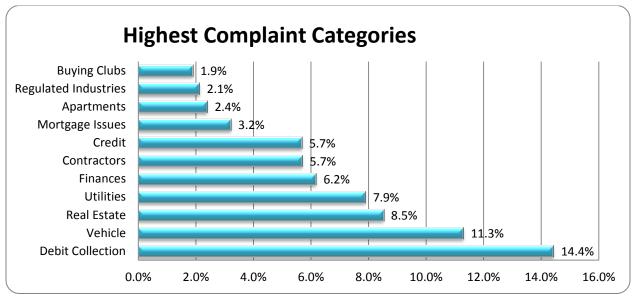

Chart 7.2-4

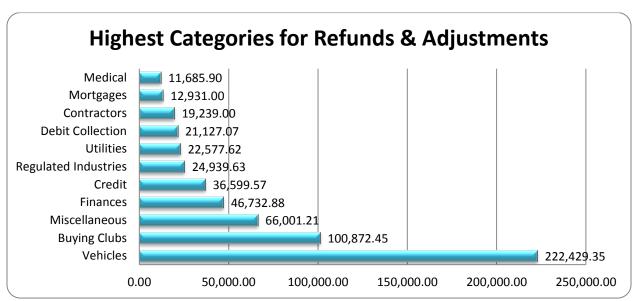

The Department anticipates continued savings for insurance consumers in addition to the amounts reported above. The savings from past fiscal years will continue to benefit consumers until companies come back to the regulators to change rates. Effective January 1, 2005, the Advocacy regulatory review program for utilities was transferred to the Office of Regulatory Staff. The inability to obtain savings for consumers in FY11 was due to pending, legal challenges to the Department's authority to intervene in certain insurance rate filings.

Chart 7.2-5

Debt Collection complaints led the way with complaints received during FY11 at 14.4%. A continuing concern is mortgage fraud and housing-related complaints, following the collapse of the housing market nationwide.

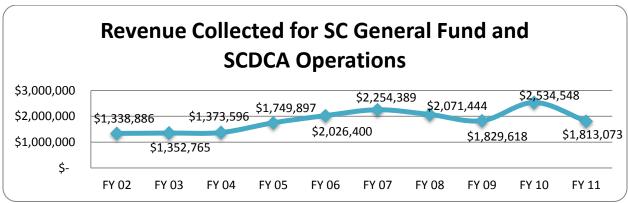

The Consumer Services Division achieved refunds, credits and adjustments of approximately $659,000 for consumers in FY11, with the highest amount involving vehicles.

Chart 7.2-6

7.3 What are your current performance levels for your key measure on financial performance, including measure of cost containment, as appropriate?

Chart 7.3-1

Despite a 14-day voluntary furlough taken by each staff member and additional budgets cuts and fiscal limitations, the Department maintained its high level of revenue performance in FY1, collecting $1,813,073 for the SC general fund and SCDCA operations. The Department achieved this by cost containment.

The statistics represent the amount of refunds, credits and adjustments the Services Division obtained from consumers as compared to the monies appropriated by the General Assembly to operate the Division. (ROI=return-capital/capital x 100%).

7.4 What are your performance levels and trends for your key measures of workforce engagement, workforce satisfaction, the development of your workforce, including leaders, workforce retention, workforce climate including workplace health, safety, and security?

SCDCA's performance levels for key measures of workforce engagement, satisfaction and development are as discussed previously including through meetings, 15 minutes with the Administrator, completion of the "Job Satisfaction Survey," EPMS process, meetings, and training opportunities and through informal communication between staff. SCDCA believes that leadership at every level of an organization makes the difference as to whether or not it will flourish and thrive or become a mediocre survivor.

Additionally, well-being can be assessed through daily contact. The Department's turnover rate has traditionally been low, and retention has been high. The agency also has a "Wellness Committee" which sponsors event meant to benefit employee health. Regarding security, the Department has a sign-in policy and code locks on all entrances to the office.

7.5 What are your performance levels and trends for your key measures of organizational effectiveness/operational efficiency, and work system performance (these could include measures related to the following: product, service, and work system innovation rates and improvement results; improvements to cycle time; supplier and partner performance; and results related to emergency drills or exercises)?

To meet the challenges of 2010-2011, the Department was decisive in setting priorities on actions that raised its effectiveness in protecting consumers, focused on improving business processes (SCBOS, webinars, internal advisory boards and roundtables for business feedback) and providing efficient processes and participating in an accounting system (SC Enterprise Information System-SCEIS) that tracks activity-level costs, aligned for the organization as a whole. Organizational-level analysis and review likely would emphasize productivity growth, cost control, and quality.

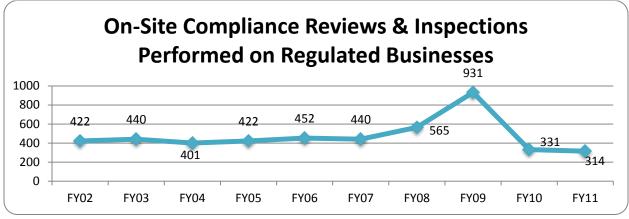

7.6 What are your performance levels and trends for the key measures of regulatory/legal compliance and community support?

Chart 7.6-1

In FY05 the Department reviewed 3,536 loan originators and 1,248 mortgage loan broker license applications. This was the first year for mortgage loan originator licensing. In FY07, 4,402 loan originators were licensed and a total of 3,093 were licensed in FY08. The Department analyzed an agency-high 20,829 applications in FY09 due to an increase in preneed contract licensing, prepaid legal services, and credit counselors and organizations, and athlete agents among others. In FY10 and FY11, however, due to the housing crisis, there has been a large decline in the number of mortgage loan brokers and loan originators processed.

The Department conducted a record 931 compliance reviews and inspections for regulated businesses during FY09. After a reduction in force, the Department conducted 331 in FY10 and 314 in FY11.

Chart 7.6-3

Through staff restructuring, the Legal Division was able to reinstate the automobile advertising advisory letter effort in FY 08. 35 letters were issued in FY11.
